FIGHTING "OPEN SHOP." Carpenters Are Putting Into Operation the Card System.

men have quietly quit, declining to work longer with the non-union men. In short, the carpenters are thus quietly but determinedly making a fight against the "open shop," as it is called. They feel thit the men who get the benefits of organizations should contribute their share of its burdens, and if after being given ample opportunity to take out cards and become members of the unions, the non-union carpenters fail to do so and the contractors or master builders still employ them, the union men quit.

Whether this has embarrassed the master builders or not, the union cappenters for the union cappenters.
